

Research Study

Oral Health in Australia and People with a Psychosocial Disability

What is your experience in accessing and receiving oral health services?

To participate in this research, you must be:

- 18 years old and over
- Australian citizen or permanent resident
- Having Psychosocial/Mental Health disability
- Accessing mental health services in Sydney, NSW

- IF THIS IS YOU –

PLEASE CONSIDER PARTICIPATING IN AN ONLINE SURVEY

WE WANT TO HEAR YOUR VOICE!

While there are no direct benefits to you, findings from the study will both offer insights into the lived experience of a person with psychosocial disability and the impact on their psychological and social experiences while accessing oral health care services in Australia

Your involvement in this survey is entirely voluntary. If you agree to participate, please read the attached Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form.

The survey should take no more than 15-30 minutes

All information you provide will be considered confidential and will be grouped with responses from other participants.

The purpose of this research study is to:

- Examine your experience, as a person with psychosocial disability, in accessing and receiving oral health care services; and
- Identify how current oral health policy and practice affect your psychological and social experiences when accessing oral health care services.
